

New Yorks Jostle Red Sox Twice in the Same Place and Emerge From Cellar Again

NEW YORKS CLIMB, TAKING TWO GAMES

Hold Red Sox Down to One Run in Each Battle of Double Header.

GOOD PITCHING BY RAYS

Brace of Victories Advances Chance's Men Out of Cellar Berth.

By winning two games from the Red Sox yesterday the New York Americans climbed out of the cellar and sent the Browns back to that lowly station. Since they clinched the pennant the Athletics have been losing steadily, which the Giants hope they will continue to do next week. Walter Johnson, Washington's well-known super pitcher, shut them out yesterday.

Yesterday's Results.
New York, 2; Boston, 1 (first game).
New York, 5; Boston, 1 (second game).
Washington, 1; Philadelphia, 0.

Today's Schedule.

Boston in New York (two games).
Philadelphia in Washington.

In moments of carelessness or kindness the New Yorks allowed the Red Sox to score two runs at the Polo Grounds yesterday, one in each game, and thereby for the Red Sox started a white wash. They were near to two immortals in that fluid, however, and the New Yorks beat them by scores of 3 to 1 and 5 to 1. The home team played briskly and tidily in both games and behind workmanlike and stylish pitching in both.

Two of Charles' trio of Rays, Keating and Fisher, radiated wet shoots for the New Yorks and did it well. It was just one spilt pitcher after another that the Bostonians had to face, and they didn't get the range on either. The New Yorks batted better, ran bases better and played with more life. The Dallas purchase, Boone, covered short for the New Yorks in the second game, making two inconsequential fumbles in the last inning and being the premier wallpaper of the day. He singled three times.

Bentley, whose hostile machinations against Gotham's baseball interests have not been confined to the metropolitan community's American League representatives, jumped into a rataplan of twirling singles in the third inning of the first game, which gave the New Yorks a safe lead. After Yorks and Egan had put Swen away, singles straggled from the cudgels of Keat, Mals and Hartz. Hartz hit sent Keat home and put Mals on third. Hartz and Nais didn't linger at the repositories long. They were promoted a double steal on which Mals scored.

A two fly drive by Williams in the sixth, backed up by a triple expansion, sent by Whitehead, gave the New Yorks a run, as it were, hooked a base hit. He advanced on Hooper's out and scored on a single by Gardner, which was poorly played by Whitehead. Whitehead was as slow and undecided on what to do with the ball that Hartz, after backing and filling around third base, finally castrated in.

Whitehead showed a pretty turn of speed in the second inning of the second game. He was passed and on a hopping single by Boone to centre he sprinted to third and beat Hooper's throw. Hooper, a leading member of the strong arm squad, throwing out adventurous spirits thataway is his meat ordinarily, but Boone hit came to him slowly and Whitehead was there to throw, and a single by Sweeney brought Whitehead home.

Thomas plastered a violent home run against the back yard fence in the third inning, which was the only run the Red Sox made. Smart feeling kept the plate inviolate in the first of the Mundy singled and Mals did swift work of Hooper's sacrifice. He had to come in as far as the box and made an instantaneous shift of the pea from his left to his right hand and, also showing that the hand is quicker than the eye, he burned the ball to Williams and retired Hooper. Lewis' infield single put Mundy on third, but Fisher struck out Yerkes and Zeld's nice return of Sweeney's throw killed a double steal. It picked off Mundy as he could reach the point proposed.

Whitehead walked for the second time in the fourth, went down on the first ball and was caught by the strong arm squad. Sweeney was thrown out by Wagner. A single by Fisher had a picturesque career. It bounded over Janvyn's head, was batted by Boone, was thrown in with by that fielder, was picked by Thomas and was hurled to third in time to catch Fisher. Boone meanwhile scored before the much handled and mishandled glove found succor from travel in Wagner's hands.

Fisher put a single in left in the seventh, Mals drew four balls in the eighth because Williams batted in with a house on balls, which forced Fisher across. Zeld's homer, Thomas waiting in vain for the ball to roll foul, and Mals scored. Whitehead hit a home run, Boone smashed a single over Anderson's head and scored Williams. Between halves in the eighth Egan intoned the proclamation that the game was called on account of darkness. The score:
